

POULTRY REARING TRAINING REPORT

Date: 2nd May, 2026

Place: Civic Centre, Council Junction

Organized by: Empowerment for Change (E4C)

A poultry rearing training program was successfully conducted on 2nd May 2026 at the Civic Centre, Council Junction. The training aimed to equip participants with essential knowledge and practical skills in poultry farming to support livelihood development.

The program was led by Akhona Panmei, Field Mobilizer. This was followed by a warm welcome and opening remarks delivered by Esther Gangmei, Executive Director. In her address, she spoke about the backwardness in Tamenglong district and emphasized the need for sustainable livelihood opportunities. She highlighted that poultry rearing, particularly backyard rearing is an effective way to utilize kitchen waste and avoid unnecessary wastage while generating income. She also stressed that such initiatives can help uplift the community, especially empowering the women of Tamenglong.

The training session was conducted by the resource person, Solomon Gangmei, who explained every aspect of poultry rearing in detail. He covered topics such as selection of breeds, housing management, feeding practices, and proper use of kitchen waste, vaccination, disease prevention, and general care of poultry. His session was comprehensive and easy to understand; ensuring that participants could clearly grasp both basic and practical aspects. The session was interactive, allowing participants to ask questions and clarify their doubts.

The training included participants from five villages, with over 50 attendees present. Among them, 30 beneficiaries were selected from the five villages. The program concluded with a vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to all attendees, the resource person, and the participants for their support and corporation.

Overall, the training was informative, detailed, and well-received, contributing positively toward empowering participants with practical knowledge and skills in poultry rearing.
